Email the results

Users can send the results of their selection to themselves or someone else. They need to enter en email address. An error message is displayed if they select 'Send Email' without entering an email address first or if they enter an invalid email address.
Sending the email itself is dealt with their email provider. The subject and body of the email should be in the language selected, and the body is a summary of the results depends on the number of chickens selected, people, location and crops selection.
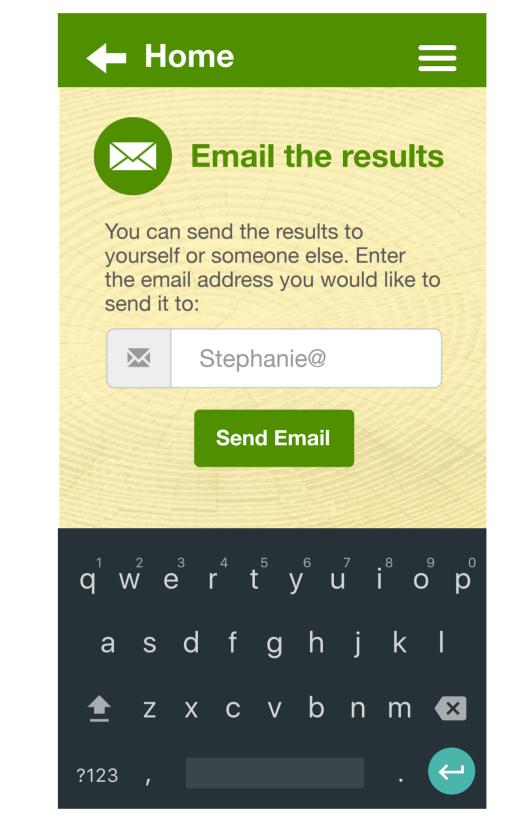

This section could probably be improved by allowing to share the results with more options (email, text message, messenger and other social media). This could lead to replacing this section by a sharing option somewhere on screen. (more work to be done and usability testing to do)
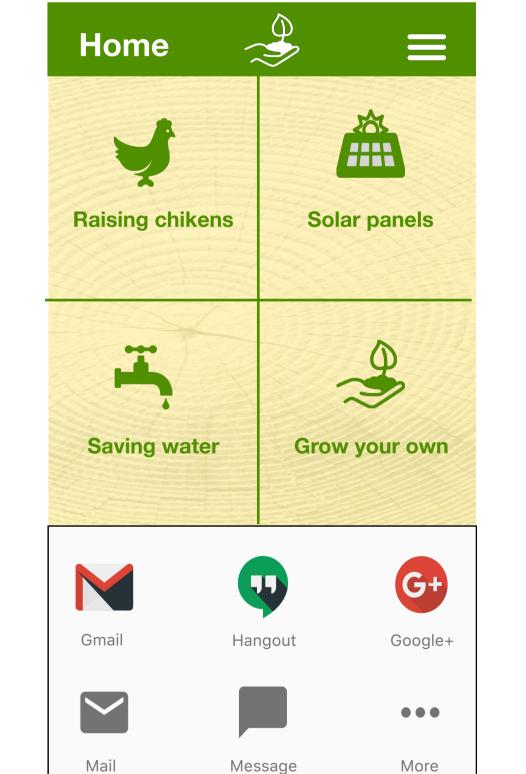

Email the results on various devices:
